Just how ready are the industrial nations for the SDGs?

Overall ranking / country profiles

Partnerships for the goals

Strengthen the means of implementation & revitalize the global partnership for sustainable development

Peace, justice and strong institutions

Promote peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development, provide access to justice for all & build effective

No poverty

Zero hunger

End hunger, achieve food security and improved

Good health and well-being well-being for all at all ages

The SDGs were preceded by the so-called Millennium Development Goals

(MDGs), which were adopted at the UN Millennium Summit in 2000. The goal of the MDGs was to improve the situation in the developing countries within a period of 15 years. Based on the successes of the MDGs, the SDGs (in force since 2015) primarily focus on creating a sustainable global community –

What came before the SDGs?

a task for which all nations are equally responsible.

Life on land degradation and halt biodiversity loss

Life below water

Climate action

Responsible consumption and production

& marine resources for sustainable development

Germany

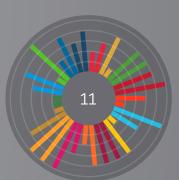

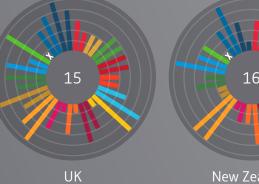

Gender equality

Quality education

Clean water and sanitation

Sustainable cities and communities

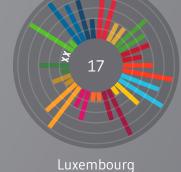

Reduced inequalities

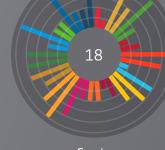

Decent work and economic growth

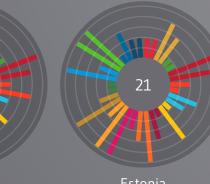

Affordable and clean energy

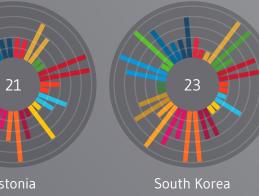

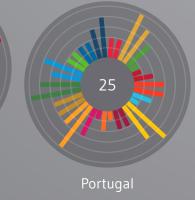

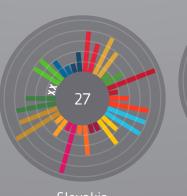

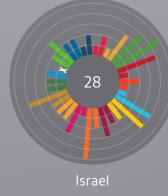

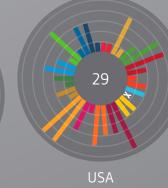

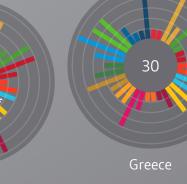

Industry, innovation and infrastructure

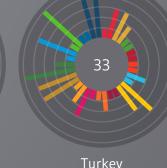

Source: "Sustainable Development Goals: Are the rich countries ready?", Sustainable Governance Indicators / Sustainable Development Solutions Network / Bertelsmann Stiftung (Hg.)